Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-12 and 14-24 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by Lea et al.(2002/0019062).

Lea et al. teach a blood assay device(10) comprising a cavity(50) that receives a sample and a cover(100) that slides over the cavity(50). The claimed “housing” has been read on the taught cavity(50) and the claimed “sealing element” has been read on the taught cover(100). Paragraph[085] teaches the cover(100) removes and displaces excess sample from the cavity(50). The excess sample remains on the top of the cover(100) and has been read on the hollow overflow chamber. Paragraph[088] teach the volume of the device as 1-13 microliters which has been read on the claimed 5-50 microliters. Paragraph[093] teaches the device is made of polypropylene and is hydrophobic and has been read on the claimed ABS plastic.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claim 13 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Lea et al.(2002/0019062)

See Lea et al. supra.

Lea et al. teach a rectangular opening and are silent to the claimed "orifice is circular or oval."

The court decided In re Dailey, 357 F.2d 669, 149 USPQ 47 (CCPA 1966) that the configuration of the claimed disposable plastic nursing container was a matter of choice which a person of ordinary skill in the art would have found obvious absent persuasive evidence that the particular configuration of the claimed container was significant. The Office submits the shape of the opening as either a rectangle or a circle would have been a matter of choice to one having ordinary skill in the art. Furthermore, a circle would have been advantageous for consistent sample placement. It would have been within the skill of the art to modify Lea et al. and make the chamber circular as a matter of choice and to gain the above advantages.
